

The Norwegian School of Economics and Business Administration (NHH) Bergen, Norway

Intensive PhD course in Corporate Finance
10-20 December 2007

The course exposes students to key research issues and methodologies in corporate finance. The main emphasis is empirical, however, discussions of models with a close link to empirical testing are also provided. The lectures cover five broad topics: Econometrics, Auctions, Takeover Bidding, Raising Capital and Governance.

Instructors are Espen Eckbo, The Amos Tuck School of Business Administration, and Hans K. Hvide, University of Aberdeen.

NHH will try to assist with providing cheap accommodation.

Further information can be found at:

<http://www.nhh.no/for/courses/spring/fin501/announcement.htm>.